There will be approximately 250 participants including athletes, coaches, parents, faculty, and staff. The camp will be a three-day event and will feature a competitive training model to identify, develop, and promote athletes and coaches. In addition to training, the camp will be a platform to launch an athlete's competitive season and participants in the camp will be selected for various events based on their performances. This will include selections to Challenge Skate, North American Series, ISU seminars and camps, and various Team USA events.
